Chairman's report to council

AIGA

I and Vice-Chairwoman Carmen Bradley attended the AIGA Tribal Leaders only meeting in Ak-chin on October the 8th and then the regular AIGA annual meeting on October the 9th. At the tribal leaders only meeting the main topic of discussion was the Tohono O'odham proposed casino for the west valley in Glendale, Az.

While there was talk of unity and working together, this remained just that, talk only. They spoke of the different markets and how if other tribes just went out and bought land and opened casinos without regard for the compact or other tribes, how can this be a unifying issue? It was decided that the tribes would wait until congress makes a ruling on the matter.

In the AIGA annual meeting we had the elections and Ak-chin Chairman Louis Manuel is the newly elected AIGA Chairman and Tohono O'odham Nation Vice-Chairman Verlon Jose is the newly elected treasurer. There was a little discussion of the events of the previous evening's topic but it was brought out that there were some representatives present that should not be privy to the details of that discourse, so the discussions were abated.

After the meetings were done, Vice-Chairwoman Bradley and I were treated to a tour of the Ak-chin community and lunch at their entertainment facility and complex. During the tour it was explained to us about their planned upgrades and expansions to their housing as well as their infrastructure, this to include their water, housing developments, casino and elders facilities. They are requesting our council to visit their facilities and tour their operations and reservation, they have suggested that we visit during their Masik-Tas celebration, which will be Dec.5&6, then Dec. 10-13.

DOE

I and our Cultural Preservation Director Ganaver Timican attended the Department of Energy, National Nuclear Security Administration meeting held in Las Vegas, Nevada on the 19th thru 22nd of October at the Santa Fe Hotel and Casino with a tour of the National Nuclear Security Site at Yucca Mountain. Those in attendance from the DOE were: from the Washington D.C. Office of intergovernmental Affairs, Harris Walker, Nevada Field Office (NFO) Laura Tomlinson, NFO Linda Cohn, NFO Environmental Management Program Scott Wade, NFO Geologist Bill Wilborn and NFO Environmental Management Christine Ellis. One of the items mentioned, that in the past 10 years there have been a total of 8 of these type of summits, while under this present administration there have been two summits in 8 months.

The nuclear tests beginning in 1951 thru 1957 were the above ground tests, beginning in 1957 & 58 the tests were moved to the underground type of tests. In 1958 thru 1961 all testing was stopped due to a moratorium being instituted in October of that year and continuing until September of '61. The testing began again in '62, nearly all were underground. From '51 to '92 there were a total of 928 tests performed with 828 being below ground and 276 being below the water table.

We were assured, at this time there no plans for the Yucca Mountain site to become an active repository site. It was explained that all repository sites must be of the consensual type, in that being they have the consent of the state and affected communities. Presently all waste from nuclear power plants are stored on site. The NNSS in their low level radiation containment sites, they are experiencing problems with vegetation re-growth, they are asking for the tribes to help with their re-vegetation efforts, spring restoration and wildlife management.

We spoke of climate change and geologic movement, the DOE assured us that their computer modeling has taken all of this into consideration, so that their containment measures were enough to speak of being safe for 1000 yrs. That with new technology they were predicting 10,000 year containment capabilities. When we questioned what had been built that could last for 1000 years much less 10,000 years, or what kind of materials their containers were made of that they would last without deteriorating? They replied that the composition of the containment area and cover materials would keep everything secure without a breach, according to their computer modeling.

The DOE stated that the U.S., even though it has not ratified the International Nuclear test ban, still abide by the principals of the ban. The NNSS still has a standing test readiness order, if given the order to conduct testing that they must be ready to test within a 24 to 36 month time frame. The site still does high explosive experiments with conventional explosive, up to 78,000lbs at a time. They also use improvised explosive devices (IED), with and without detonation. They do this because the NNSS also works with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), and tests the DHS' aerial detector equipment. The detection equipment checks for both conventional and nuclear explosive material, both with and without detonation. The NNSS also conducts First Responder Training for Federal, State and Tribal entities personnel.

Youth Hunt

I went up on the Mountain Friday evening and was able to enjoy a good meal, heard the different elders give presentations on how things have changed and what they were taught. The importance of maintaining the spiritual aspect of hunting and of giving offerings before taking any animals, along with giving thanks when one is taken. I camped out on Friday evening, it wasn't too cold and I got up when Quentin got the fire going, which was about 4:30, so I could help with the cooking.

The hunters left early the next morning at about 6am to 7am, for the late risers. We had coffee ready first thing in the morning for the hunters, we started cooking at about 7am so we would be ready with breakfast when they returned. That morning there were no deer taken, the hunters came back to a fine breakfast of eggs, potatoes, hash browns, sausage and bacon, with more coffee, hot chocolate and juice. I accompanied a group of hunters when they went out, we all piled into the back of Bob Bradley's pick-up. One of the Las Vegas hunters did get a small deer, both of the Las Vegas hunters were able to spot, track and take a couple of shots, with the one kill.

Upon returning to camp we were deluged with rain and lightning, housing who had provided the evening meal on Friday, were already cooking and with all dedication and concentration continued on in the face of this most inclement weather. A prayer was offered and dinner proceed with no dampener being reflected because of the storm. After supper those who were not going to camp out gathered to see what the plan was for getting off the mountain, it was decided that all who were going would have to exit through Coral Pink Sand Dunes.

Those of us who were camping out were given a break in the weather and a chance to dry ourselves close to the fire, we exchanged small talk, mostly consisting of the weather and if anyone would get lucky the next day. Just as preparations were being made to turn in for the night, two trucks came back to camp and inform those of us who had remained, that we had to gather our things and be prepared to leave. The water had already washed out the lower road and the farm road, the road thru the sand dunes was reaching the impassible stage, one of the earlier vehicles had already gotten stuck in the first trip down. We then caravanned out and had to make a detour around the spot where the pervious vehicle had gotten stuck. Upon reaching the asphalt roadway there were lots of smiles and relief, with a certain amount of enjoyment for the adventure.

Halloween Party

I attended the Halloween party the tribe had sponsored, it was a fine affair with a lot of well thought out costumes, although the whole zombie thing seemed to be the most prevalent choice. The council members, consisting of Manual, Carlos and myself were the judges for the costume contests, there were four categories and it was not an easy task. Some of the winners were a small gnome, some skeletons, a geisha girl and an ape amongst the group.

The food was good, consisting of chili beans, corn bread, tortillas, along with a large assortment of side dishes and an even larger assortment of desserts. Our tribal departments had a lot of activities included in their booths for our youth to enjoy, and the decoration awards and carving contest were a lot of fun. All in all a job well done, many thanks to our tribal administration and departments for a fun night and good memories.

NPS

I attended the National Park Service retirement party given for Retiring Superintendent John Hiscock. There was a large turnout in attendance for the Superintendent, with many of his staff and fellow leadership peers, from both within the Park Service and from adjoining federal entities. The tribe lent the use of our community building as well as donating the funds for the meat to be barbequed. The council presented John with an embroidered blanket, which the councilmembers present wrapped around him, along with a few memories. The food was excellent and many of the desserts were homemade. There were others who related memories and work experiences with and about John, some with lots of emotions and a few tears, most with a lot of laughter and fun.

KAIBAB SKATE PARK

We are still working with Street League Skateboarding Foundation on building a park here on the reservation.

Here is a copy of an email I received from Josh in September:

“We’re working on identifying the projects we’ll be focusing on in 2016-2017 and we’d love to figure out how to include the Kaibab Paiute Reservation as one of our projects.

I’m going to reach out to a couple of my colleagues, one at the Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Indian and some other at the Stronghold Society who were instrumental in getting the skateparks at the Pine Ridge Reservation built to see if they have any ideas about connecting sponsors or fundraising to your project. I will get back to you asap with some more info. Thank you for continuing to push your project forward!”

We are collecting approximately $100.00 per month in donations at the Chevron. We have written a request for donation of concrete to Interstate Rock as well.

Once I have more information I will schedule a Skate Park Kids Meeting.

Dear Friend,

We appreciate that you chose American Red Cross for your First Aid, CPR, and AED training and certification needs and that you are better prepared to respond to an emergency -- especially this time of year when families and friends gather to celebrate the holiday season.

Did you know? During the holiday season, decorating-related injuries alone send 2-3 people to the Emergency Room every hour! It's a busy time of year, and accidents happen more frequently during the holiday months.

For a limited time, you can give the gift of Family First Aid and CPR training to your family and friends for FREE!

Now through December 31, 2015, American Red Cross is making three of our Family First Aid and CPR online courses available at no cost when you sign up online. These online courses cover a variety of first aid, breathing and cardiac emergency topics.

SIGN UP NOW

Please share this gift with your family and friends and encourage them to choose the free online course that best meets their needs. Online registration is quick and easy and this offer is ONLY available when you sign up online.

Note: These online-only courses are for educational purposes only and do not meet federal or local workplace safety requirements, which require skills assessment by a certified instructor.

Here's wishing you a safe and happy holiday season!

Sincerely,

The American Red Cross

November 2015 Seat Belt Use

Do you know that seat belt use is the lowest in ages 16-24 years of age. What can you do to help improve the statistics in this age range.

Let them know its the law on and off the reservation for seat belt use. That it is reckless and dangerous not to use one while riding in a moving vehicle. By setting the example, putting it on before the vehicle starts. We know as adults that we learn by example if our parents used seat belts when they were young then they are more likely to buckle up when they become drivers. It's an on going effort not a one time conversation , examples put sticky notes in the car or any visual reminders. It only takes a few seconds to buckle up and a few seconds to get seriously hurt if you were to get in a motor vehicle crash and were not wearing a seat belt. It could make a difference of a lifetime.

The Kaibab Paiute Indian Reservation currently has a Secondary law on seat belt use (28-909) Child Passenger Restraint (28-907) currently the Law & Order Committee is in the process of changing it to be a Primary Law including Child Restraint Systems use on the Kaibab Paiute Indian Reservation.

Free Child car seats, booster seats, all you have to do to receive one is watch a 25 minute video and install the car seat in your vehicle. Call to schedule a time that works best for you.

Working TOGETHER , we can keep our tribal members and others safe on the road, everyday. Encourage drivers & passengers to buckle up on every trip.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The Cemetery Committee is writing this letter in regards to the soil being removed from graves.

I understand the fact that being there is not enough soil in the area to use, it is disrespectful to remove dirt from one grave to another.

If you need soil, please ask a person on the cemetery committee or a tribal council representative, they are LaWanda Hill and Carlos Bullets. They will contact the appropriate staff to have a load of dirt dropped off where you would like it. This would be for everyone's use that is close by.

Red Cliffs Chevron

The Red Cliffs Chevron are looking for local crafts or jewelry to sell at the Store. This would be a great opportunity to make extra money for the holidays. If you have items that you have made and are interested in selling here, please contact Debbie or Jolita at the Store. One of us can be reached Monday thru Friday, 7 am to 3 pm at 928.643.6040.

If you have any questions or would like to stop by please do so.

The Fredonia-Moccasin School District Governing Board is requesting your help to identify and recognize outstanding students that represent the “Peace Builder” traits and who do exceptional service in our community. Each month several elementary students will be awarded the “Peace Builder” award for showing kindness, helpfulness and good citizenship. At the High School/Middle School several students will receive a “Courageous Service” award at the quarterly Awards Assembly for their service to the community. Awards will be presented by the Governing Board. When you see Fredonia students giving service please let a Board member know or report it to the principal. We know there are students who do many acts of kindness every day and we would like to recognize them.

Wildlife Department

2015 Youth Hunt this went good until the second night we got rained out, I do want to mention something the Tribes Langu Department should feel good about that is when we did introductions the Kaibab Youth introduced themselves in Paiute, this made all of the Tribal Member in attendance feel good about being Kaibab Paiute, Thank you Langu Department. Due to all of the rain we had that evening which caused Muddy Roads and Flooding, we decided to take everyone off of the Mountain and only one deer was taken, we were going to have everyone come back to the Community Center for the night but they decided to go home, the ones with deer permits were given until November 15 to fill it.

To all Tribal Member hunters, lately it seems that Tribal Members are harvesting their three deer per household and it seem to be younger families, people need to be reminded that harvesting a deer is not for fun, only shooting the deer with the biggest horns, or to give the meat away, to someone that is not a Tribal Member, it is for your family to eat and not waste or give way, we need to respect the Deer or they will go away and not come back.

“Certified Hunter” is someone that a Tribal Member has asked to hunt for them and the person should not go around asking family if they could hunt for them or if a Tribal Member ask you to hunt for them and to use his permit, that is not right you need to get a Certified Hunter form.

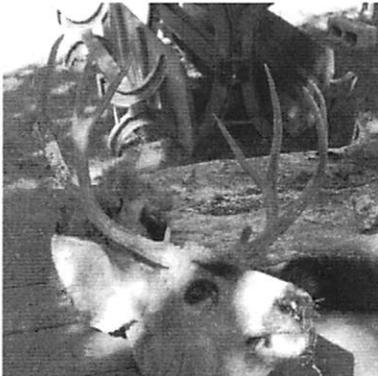

Tribal Hunters for your information, the next time you pass by the “horn gate” you will see some small feathers attached with white string, this is from the Hopi hunters and it symbolizes returning the deer back to Moccasin Mountain it is a way that the Hopi show respect for taking the deer, if you see feathers at the pavilion or in other area’s please leave them alone.

Tribal Hunters remember to get a permit before going hunting, you could be cited into tribal court, come and tell the Wildlife Department when you make a kill or bring in the tag right way so it can be recorded, and watch for trash flying out of your vehicle, report any hunting violations to the Wildlife Department as soon as you can.

Remember to not hunt alone, tell someone where you are going, what time you will be back, take a shovel, water, cell phone and food, and be prepared for Snow, Rain and Mud.

Fishing everyone need a permit to fish and they need to have it with them while fishing

Wood – Tribal Members do not need a permit to get wood for their own use on the reservation.

The Dixie National Forest Promotes Safe Christmas Tree Cutting Practices

Cedar City, Utah –The Dixie National Forest encourages safe practices when participating in the tradition of Christmas tree cutting this holiday season. “Once you have purchased your permit, there are a few safety considerations to keep in mind to enhance your adventure,” said Marcia Gilles, Dixie National Forest Public Affairs Officer.

Prepare before you leave the house:

- Check current weather forecasts and call the ranger district for road conditions.
- Dress appropriately and in layers for adverse weather conditions.
- Tell someone where you are going and when you plan to return. Get an early start; don’t get caught in the dark.

Recommended items to bring:

- Ideally use a four-wheel-drive vehicle; bring tire chains, and a shovel.
- Food, water, cell phone and a first aid kit. Orientate yourself to your surroundings-look for landmarks. Weather conditions change quickly.
- Tree permit and a map for the area you are cutting.
- Carry a flashlight, compass, whistle, lighter, knife, an axe, handsaw or hatchet.
- Rope and a tarp for strapping your tree to your vehicle or trailer.

Reminders for when travelling on the forest:

- Bring a forest map and stay on designated roads and trails to prevent ruts and resource damage.
- If you go through an unlocked closed gate, please close it behind you.
- If you PACK-IT-IN, be sure to PACK-IT-OUT.
- Be cautious going down snow packed, icy roads that can put you at risk for getting stuck.

Tree cutting safety tips:

- Wear eye protection and heavy gloves.
- Decide the direction the tree will fall and make sure it is clear of people, pets and vehicles.
- Have someone spot you while cutting and step away from the tree as it begins to fall.
- Place the tag that comes with your permit immediately on the tree.
- Do not cut the top of a tree off. Cut at the base and leave tree stumps no more than six inches high.
- Scatter slash from tree cutting. Taking an armload of green branches and pine cones for decorations is acceptable.

For information and to obtain a Christmas tree cutting permit stop by or call the Dixie National Forest district offices or visit the web site: www.fs.usda.gov/dixie.

This would also apply for the Kaibab National Forest!!!
